

Quality

Quality is at the heart of Constructor corporate culture and the company is fully committed to providing a high quality product and service offering in everything we do. We strive to provide our customers with excellent service before, during and after the sale of one of our many storage products, always with an aim to exceed expectations.

We hold the recognised quality accreditation ISO 9001 since 1997 which incorporates the design, manufacture and sales of storage solutions. With our design teams working to recognised European, national and in-house design codes our Customers can be sure every effort has been made to ensure quality is delivered.

We are committed to continuous improvement through a policy of ongoing investment in training and technology, which is augmented by the very best technical support and management expertise.
